Vol. 2 No. 43 - PRICE 15c

.. 'Round 'n' 'Round ..

With JIMMY LENNON

"JIM NOTES":

BOXING is moving right along! —from the heavyweight division right on down to the little guys, the game is picking up very well indeed.—JOE LOUIS is starting his exhibitions, and is considering another bout or two before definitely retiring. BILLY CONN, former Liteh'vy ruler is in training for a comeback. —TONY ZALE is endeavoring to entice MARCEL CERDAN to defend his newly won crown in a rematch—much to the chagrin of well wishing fans of the likeable "Gary Indianian". SUGAR RAY ROBINSON probably can't ever again make the 147 pound mark for title defense, and will campaign against the middleweights. Ray will weigh in at about 155. ENRIQUE BOLANOS again is rearing his "Pugly" head for a shot at IKE WILLIAMS, after decisively TKOing JOHNNY WILLIAMS. His next will more than likely be with TOMMY CAMPBELL. PAULINO MONTES looks well in the lightweight division—that is amongst the "Comers". CARLOS CHAVEZ is still trying to get a bout with WILLIE PEP, but to no avail, and has to meet lightweights to get action. ORTIZ scheduled to meet SALAS in a rematch of a bout won by LAURO SALAS. BOBBY MURPHY steps up in class after putting the TKO sign on Puncher-Boxer, KENNY WATKINS, who is one tough hurdle. MURPHY proved his ability to "take" and "dish".—Yep, he's an Irisher.

ATTENTION FOOTBALL FANS:

(especially Bay District enthusiasts)

THE NEWLY ORGANIZED VENICE A. C. footballers make their initial start against the ALL-COLORED L. A. WILDCATS—Sat. Nite, Oct. 23rd. at CULVER CITY STADIUM. The Venice team is composed of former greats of gridiron fame from VENICE HI—HAMILTON—and Cross town rivals, SANTA MONICA. GRAYSON TURNEY will coach the locals, in a single wing formation, it is said. Among the many stars that will battle for CHARITY—as the proceeds go to organize a BOYS CLUB in Venice (a sorely needed thing), is TOMMY TOLMAN, 1945 all-city PLAYER OF THE YEAR.—DON SCHULTZ of St. Mary's.—MERLE HUGGINS of Loyola.—BOB MANDEMAKER of San Jose—, and many others too numerous to mention.—JUST COME OUT AND SEE THEM! Tickets are reasonable, and remember that the Benefit is for the BOYS CLUB of VENICE.—

NIGHT OF MAIN EVENTS:

To be held at the Legion Stadium on Oct. 30th—with famous celebrities of the ring officiating—JACK DEMPSEY will referee. JOHNNY DUKE the "Feared One" will meet J. T. Ross, the KO Artist (23 out of 34 bouts.)—DON LEE vs. "Kid" Mathews; MARIO TRIGO and Nick DIAZ.—RICHARD JONES and CHARLES SALAS.—What a card—and all to combat Juvenile delinquency in our fair city.

BARON STUMME, matchmaker at the Stadium in Hollywood, has been granted permission to take on a similar job in San Diego at the Federal Athletic Club. Shows will start on Oct. 28, and on Thursday nites.—WILLIE BEAN, promising young heavy has been reinstated by the State, after a dismal showing against TURKEY THOMSON, and was paid for his bout. Please take into consideration that Willie is still o young fighter, and will COME along nicely under RALPH GAMBINA.—AL ARENAS, a "PAN-TOUTED" fighter, of a few weeks ago, still is on the climb. He won a TKO over JOE ROBLETO at the Olympic. Now the only thing that is worrying Mgr. JOE BARNUM is "Whether Al can go the distance".—That is in a semi, or main event. Al has been stopping them in a round or two.—And JOE BARNUM says that he is definitely just a manager—not a fighter, now—LUIGI VALENTINI, fine Italian lightie, and a stablemate of ENRICO BERTOLA, is on his way to the Old Country to see his wife, who is very ill.—BERTOLA is wanted all over the country after his showing against De La Cruz (Bertola won).

IT'S ALL FREE!

GIGANTIC AIR SHOW!

The SANTA MONICA Jr. Chamber of Commerce headed by Prexy V. H. SIMPSON, are staging the 2nd annual Air Carnival at Clover Field on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. MANY THRILLING DEMONSTRATIONS are planned, and it's all free—plenty of grandstand seats available. BRING THE KIDDIES!—Film Celebrities Galore!

ADDED NOTES:

DON LEE has now 22 straight wins in Main Events all over the country. He meets Mathews on October 30th at Legion—ENRIQUE BOLANOS, a very much improved fighter will win, and maybe by Kayo over TOMMY CAMPBELL, if they meet.—HAROLD DADE meets CHARLEY RILEY in Chi, on Oct. 29.—The two outstanding welters, TONY JANIRO and KID GAVILAN, will meet in the Garden on Nov. 12th.

JACK DEMPSEY'S PROTEGEE JOE WEIDIN of Belgium, lost on a TKO in the 9th Round with WALTER HAFER, who was on the deck twice, and way behind on points. A cut eye caused the cessation of hostilities.

BERNARD DOCUSEN turns puncher and Kayos AL ROBINSON in Oakland.—Cecil SCHOONMAKER, after defeating DADO MARINO, is set for proposed bouts in London.

HAVE YOU HEARD THE LATEST SONG RAVE? It's called "GORGEOUS GEORGE", who by the way, is bowling them over in the East at present.

WATCH for TOMMY LEE JAMES, a promising welter, who has won 19 out of 21, and most of these by the "Real Kayo".

BOBBY JACKSON, who is having trouble getting a good fight, is taking it easy—huting deer, etc. BOLTON FORD, another Dan Barnhart managed boy may go to the Islands for a Takeshita bout.

PAN SCOREBOARD:

2 out of 3 this week—141 "PAN PICKS"—106 winning selections—3 draws—and 32 losses—(Losses only a little over 22½ percent).

HERE GOES for this week:

OLYMPIC:

CARLOS CHAVEZ is picked over LAURO SALAS. Ortiz is off the card, and Lauro takes on a toughie in the ringwise CARLOS, who will have to go all out to stave off the blasting rushes of the Monterey Mexican. Salas won over Ortiz, and Chavez has won and lost to Ortiz. This will be a slugfest as Salas has lots of heart and punches.

OCEAN PARK:

In a toss-up—SAVAGE "Pan-Picked" over CLYDE COYHIS. MILO SAVAGE lost his last—an unpopular duke to SHAMUS McCRAY—after winning all the way. COYHIS won his last 6 here in LA before going East on a visit. Clyde is a Kayo artist with either hand, and is young and strong, but needs a fight before—tip-top.—Savage is clever, and "packs and takes" a wallop. This will rival last week's bout for action.

HOLLYWOOD:

MONTES over TORRES. Yes, Torres is managed, by the wily GEO. PARNASSUS, who really knows a fighter,—and Torres has won 80 out of 85.—One of the losses was a close one to Montes in Mexico, but—MONTES is a very good hitter—a good thinker during the active part of the bout—young and strong—what more? Montes "Took" Carlos Chavez—Buddie Garcia, etc. String with the winner Paulino.

FIGHT RESULTS:

OCEAN PARK: In one of the wildest and toughest fights ever staged in the Beach Arena, BOB MURPHY won on a TKO in the 9th over KENNY WATKINS as Kenny was defenseless, after receiving and delivering wallops from everywhere. It was almost indescribable—the action was so torrid, with first one then the other "On top"—Murphy proved that he can get to a good boxer with his lethal wallops that could kill a horse.

ON THE SAME CARD, G. G. Champ CLARENCE HENRY won his 7th straight pro battle very convincingly in a 4 rounder with JOHNNY CURTIS. Henry showed more than previously—a mixture of punches. PERK GLENN didn't look himself in losing by TKO to CHIVERO CHAVEZ. CARL ARAKAKI from Honolulu won again from SANTOS SALAS, but this time by Kayo in the 3rd.—Rubin Torres won over Sammy Zelman. —RUBIN SMITH, clever Bantam Kayoed Russ McCARTY.. who looks a lot like the BABE BRANDELLI of old.

OLYMPIC: BOLANOS cuts down JOHNNY WILLIAMS in 7 heats! Just like a tiger stalking his prey, ENRIQUE BOLANOS, who is looking ahead at the title shot with Williams (IKE), hooked and jabbed his dusky opponent almost at will to pile up a good lead in the first 6 rounds. Then in the 7th when jab after jab landed flush, "Enrikee" crossed a right, and Williams tried to grab, but body blows brought down the guard—then a left hook to the jaw, and down along the ropes went Williams, to arise at 9—Then after a couple of blows which he was unable to avoid, Ref Kirschner called it "All Over." Williams suffered a lacerated eye in the 5th round, and in spite of it was a very dangerous puncher with little or no fear of Bolanos, who "Caught" some Beauties from time to time (after all Gentlemen—It was a FIGHT!)

On the same card, AL ARENAS scored a 2 round TKO over Joe Robleto.—Richard FINLEY won over WALLY BAILEY —MANNY MADRID over Butch MAXWELL.—BABY IKE won from TETO GARCIA in 4.—NAP HOWARD duked BILLY KING.

'PAN' Patter

By Hardy Kruskamp

The little woman came in the other day and said she was attending a shower for a son-to-be bride. She had a little present but every one was supposed to bring their favorite recipe. The one they sprung on the husband when they wanted to buy an expensive new hat. This dish tends to put the lord and master of the domicile in a mellow mood — then the little woman springs the hat and the cost. This tends to upset the husband but a second helping of his favorite dish will make him forget everything.

I wanted to know which recipe she intended to give. Was it the chicken cacciatore? Was it the veal scallopine or maybe those Russian Kischtke? She looked at me like I was a plague or something vile. "Those might be your favorite dishes but not mine" was her answer to my puzzled look. "What is your favorite dish my little chicadee?" Eating out was her candid report. Now with all that gibberish muscle head stuff you call poetry you frustrated genius I want a little verse written about dining out. Something different from the other women's recipe that will only make the bride spend all day in a kitchen. I fought like it was the third fall in a grueling match but as per usual I lost. I sat down and composed something and she immediately threw it in the waste basket. Now write something a little stronger. Imagine you are writing something about Gorgeous George or one of those other characters that you are always praising.

The folowing was the result. It did not meet with her approval but I told her it was the best I could do she let it go.

Cooking in the kitchen is a dreary thing.
Wash the vegetables, sear the meat.
Onto the stove and into the pot.
When you get through what have you got?
A sated husband with bulging belt band,
A sink full of dirty dishes that will spoil your hands.
I want to make to brides one thing clear,
Stay out of the kitchen but feed well your dears.
And if you know not how this is to come about,
Learn all the good restaurants and then dine out.

The soon-to-be bride accepted it with all the graciousness of a queen, but the groom took me to task. I had to do a lot of tall talking to keep from getting punched in the nose. But when I explained that there was a way to overcome all this. To-wit, feign sickness the first few times you go out and not wanting a sick husband to nurse and care for all night she will end up cooking all the time. Another nice little gesture is to get the family physician to indicate you have a weak stomach and everything must be cooked with her lily white hands. He was appeased to a certain extent. But lo! when some night he has been out with the boys and he comes in singing a little tune with the remains of chili or some other tell-tale spots on his vest he will have to do his own thinking and make his own excuses.

Now this all leads to the cusines and bars that are listed as Pan's advertisers. You will not suffer from malnutrition or ptomaine if you will visit them. First there is Danno O'Mahoney's. He can and will give you about anything you want in the line of food not to mention drinks that are served home style. (Plenty of the alcoholic contents and little mixer). He can also talk to you about your favorite wrestler for when Danno wants he can rate right with the best. He being the last recognized one and only one world champion.

Next down at the RED FEATHER at Manchester and Figueroa you can have one of the tenderest steaks along with some outstanding entertainment. Some of the best in the show world parade their wares there. It is also the only night club in the U.S.A. that has television eminating from their floor. You will find Paul and Andy great hosts.

Little Mickey McMasters, the people's choice for referee, has a nice place down in Huntington Park. Let Mickey referee your meals if you get around that section.

Now if you want some superlative barbecued ribs drop down at Curt Lonergan Copper Kitchen at Lincoln and Washington Blvd. They are right down any one's alley. This is not saying anything about that good Coors draught beer.

We have another advertiser called The Chicken Call in service. If you are not in the mood to go out these people will deliver any kind of a meal right at your door. This will save the little woman's hands — no dishes — just a little package where you can eat and throw the box away. It is good eating for a fast bite.

Colorful Trio

Trained, coached and managed efficiently by their elder brother, the famed Gorilla Macias, Los Hermanos Macias—Jocabe and Jose—rapidly have won the acclaim of residents of Latin colonies throughout Southern California.

And selling themselves to the southland Mexicans, who have been solidly "all out" for Enrique Torres during the last two years, really is an achievement.

Now in whatever arena the Brothers Macias appear, you'll hear wild cheers of "Viva Jose!" and "Viva Jocabe!"—where formerly it was "Viva Torres!"

It couldn't be said exactly that the terrific newcomes from Mexico have supplanted Torres in the affection of the Latin colonies here—but you have to admit, that the be-whiskered Macias muchachos really are giving him a run for his money in popularity.

Already you'll find long lines of fans, autographic pads and pencils ready, waiting for the Mexican stars at the dressing rooms—as they once waited for the great Torres.

And this sudden popularity of the newcomers isn't in any sense, a case of "out of sight—out of mind," for if Torres were wrestling here now—there would still be the great clicques of fans on hand cheering for both the Macias muchachos.

The popularity of his younger brothers doesn't seem to surprise Gorilla, who has emphasized the fact that under his direction and management, both Jocabe and Jose earned stellar rating in their own country before they crossed the border, not long ago.

He has had a long, colorful career has the Gorilla and he is looking forward to following both of his younger brothers on their careers which he feels will be equally sensational.

Known as the Strangler Lewis of Mexico, Gorilla has been rated as one of the greatest athletes ever produced in his country. He has taught everything about the game he knows—and it's plenty—to his younger brothers, and both adept and quick witted, they both have proved brilliant pupils, as is evidenced by their mat work here.

Great horsemen also are the three brothers Macias and they have ridden with the colorful charro groups in brilliant festival throughout Mexico.

Breaking horses and wrestling bulls has been part of Jose and Jocabe's background for wrestling—and it's rumored if they'd take time off from their mat bookings, they would cop honors from all the local bull doggers and bronc busters in any rodeo.

"They're afraid of nothing are my little brothers," proudly Gorilla declares. "Never will they turn down a match and the only thing they ask is that they meet opponents strong enough to give them the competition they need."

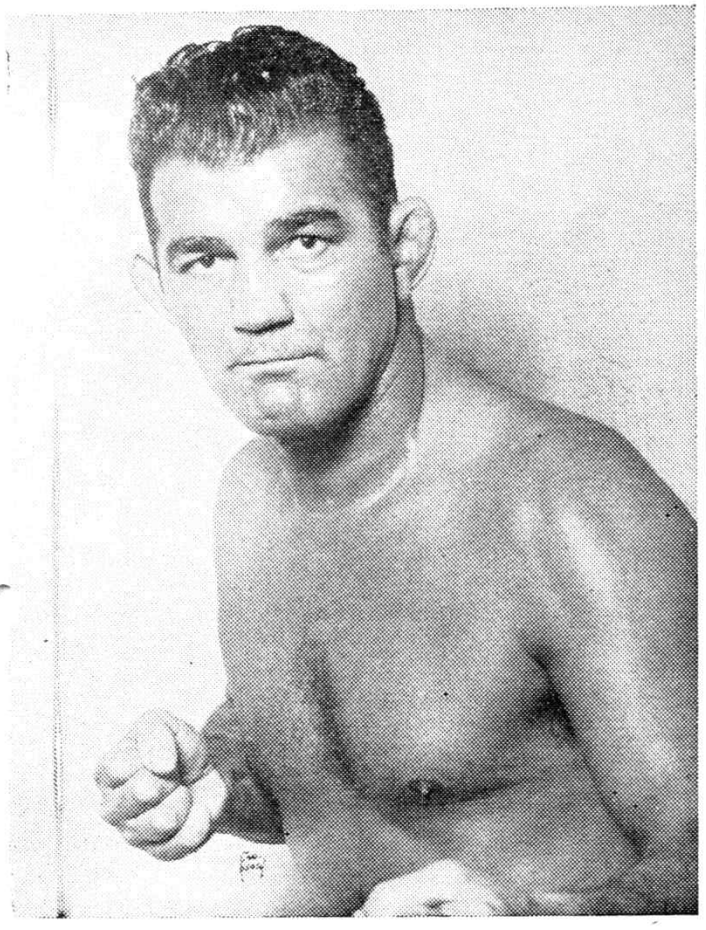
Returning to the Southland



Deciding definitely that Southern California is the healthiest place in the country to live from standpoint of business, ethics and politics, as well as health, Gino Garibaldi with his wife and son have moved into a new home in Tujunga in a Verdugo hillside overlooking the great San Fernando Valley.

Former New York staters, the Garibaldis spent last winter in Tujunga and returned east in the spring.

Seven months were enough to convince them that Tujunga was the only real spot to live permanently—and so they've moved here—lock, stock and barrel.

Bad luck pursued the popular American-Italian star and his family ever since their return to New York, he has revealed. The eastern climate brought back recurrence of Mrs. Garibaldi's sinus trouble. And then their strapping son, Gino, Jr., who's on the verge of a great wrestling career, was stricken with what appeared to be polio.

To bring the situation to a climax, Garibaldi was given a rude "kick in the pants' by the New York Athletic Commissioner who also is a governor. You may have seen or heard him recently as he made himself well known here in the southland. A chap by the name of Thomas E. Dewey.

Anyway, Dewey happened to be watching some wrestling matches on television while on his presidential tour, and decided he didn't like Garibaldi's tactics. As result he immediately ordered Gino's license suspended by the New York Athletic Commission Could you imagine such a situation here in California — a commissioner basing his findings on what he has seen televised!

Anyway, it seems that the situation in New York is decidedly different from this state, as back there referees generally are political appointees and not required to pass rigid examinations as is required in California—and so in a pinch, a referee is not in a position to throw much weight around.

Garibaldi naturally protested Dewey's order, and after several weeks' battle, was reinstated.

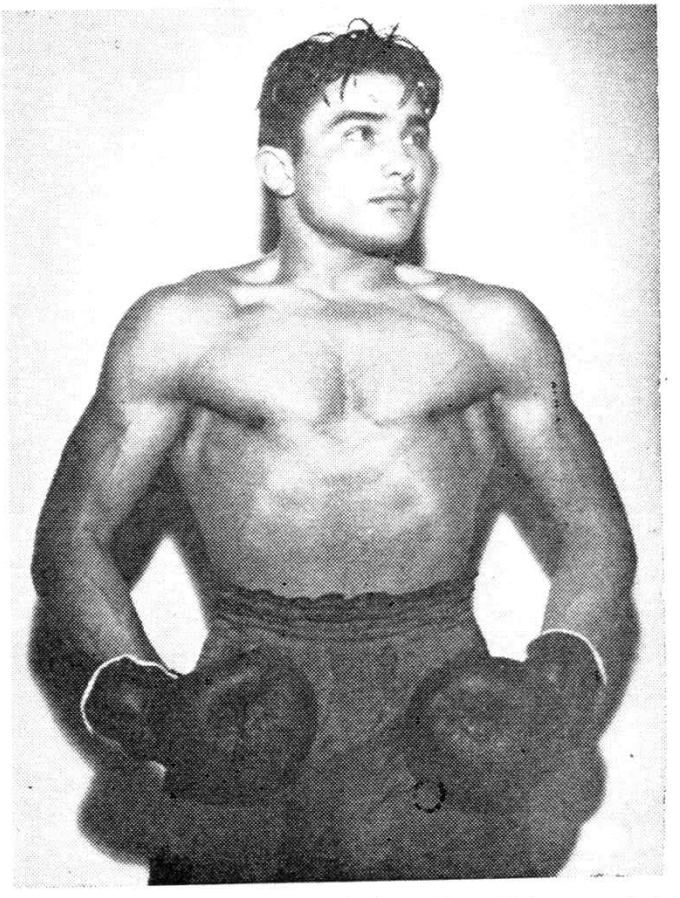
"But it sure sickened me of athletics in New York," Garibaldi has declared.

Now that the Garibaldis have returned here, Mrs. Garibaldi's health has materially improved. As for the son, he fortunately didn't have polio after all, but had been afflicted with a muscular spasm, which now has been entirely cured, and he'll be ready soon for some tough mat assignments.

Gino, leading representative of one of the country's most famous wrestling families, is a welcome permanent addition to Southern California. He is a true citizen and a great sportsman.

He reveals that he has been trying to sell his brothers Ralph, Tony, Joe and Chick on the idea of locating out here too—or anyway coming on for some team matches this winter. Sons of a hard-working Illinois coal miner, the Garibaldi Boys have come up the hard way in life, but due to their wonderful physiques, natural athletic ability and color, all like Gino, have gone far in the mat world.

On the Night of Main Events



Mario Trigo, the hard-hitting lightweight, will be one of the chief attractions at the Hollywood Legion Stadium on the "Night of Main Events." This will take place Saturday, October 30.

Four main events will be on tap for the fight fans that night. They include: Don Lee vs. Harry "Kit" Mathews, Mario Trigo vs. Nick Diaz, J. T. Ross vs. Johnny Duke, Charley Salas vs. Richard Jones.

This is a charity show and all attending will be giving to a worthy cause—also see a whale of a fight card.

Bruce - A War Hero

So many children and grown-ups, too, have asked Lord Blears about Bruce, his dog, that he detailed Captain Holmes to tell us briefly some of the dog's adventures. These are the Captain's own words:

"This magnificent animal (Labrador Retriever) first saw the light of day in Yorkshire, a county in the north of England, year nineteen forty-three. This was at a time when the whole world was wondering when and where the second front would take place.

"Lord Blears got all his dogs from Yorkshire—the home, incidently, of the Airedale, another great-hearted, intelligent animal.

"In March, 1944, while his Lordship was at sea, he instructed that Bruce was to join my unit and thereby do his bit in the forthcoming invasion. So, before he was twelve months old, Bruce was in the British army.

"For the following three months Bruce was out with the troops on army exercises. There he became accustomed to machine gun fire, also the artillery heavy guns. This was quite different from the sound of a shotgun, his hereditary endowment.

"June, 1944, brought the real thing and Bruce was put ashore on the Normandy beachhead. The exact spot was Corsevilles - Sur Mer. He was with me in a waterproof Jeep. With us was my batman. Any American soldiers who landed in the early part of June will know that the noise was deafening, but Bruce did not show any signs of fear or excitement.

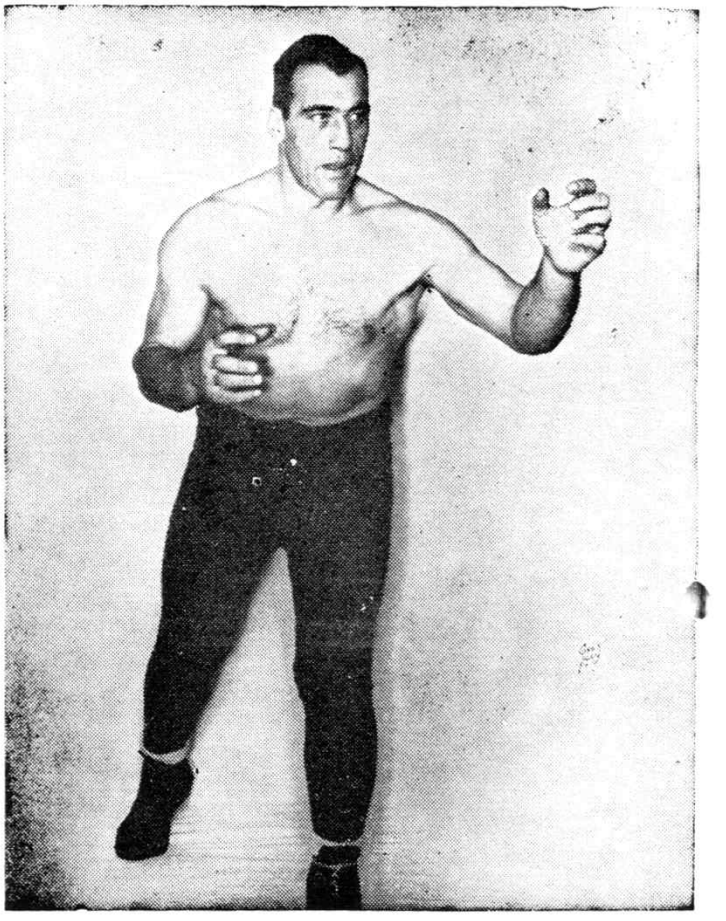
"From Normandy he went with the British Eighth Corps through the Falaise Gap battle. Then crossed the River Seine at Vernon by way of Baily Bridge. Disaster almost overtook him in the French village of Puchay, where he was badly wounded in the stomach and leg. He was laid up for seven weeks. During this time he was carried in an army vehicle and was nursed by the troops.

"It was in Houthakn, Holland, where he first began to walk again, and by December, 1944, he was fully recovered and ready for his next great adventure — the crossing of the Rhine River. His experiences on that memorable crossing are too numerous to mention. It took from December to the middle of spring and, needless to say, Bruce was in the thick of it all.

"Bruce seemed to lead an enchanted life after his first wound, for he kept right on going up to the Baltic coast — even farther than myself, for I was put out of the show right after the Rhine crossing and was flown back to England as a casuality.

"Some months later Bruce was shipped back home and was reunited with his master, Lord Blears. Both returned home from voyages I hope they never encounter again."

Coming Back From South America



Primo Carnera the giant Italian has just completed his South American tour. He returns from the coffee country with all the laurels that a professional athlete can gather. This is namely the honor of having a list of record houses to his credit. The South Americans had the honor of seeing the Primo when he was tops in the boxing world — now they have shown their eagerness to witness his new triumphs in wrestling.

Primo had some difficulty when he first arrived with his passport. This was because of the wrong word on application for visa. This was putting down the word (Expert) instead of wrestler. How this came about no one seems to rightly know.

All we were assured of was the fact that the promoters saw the capacity houses he was drawing they soon went to the State Department and got the matter straightened out.

The giant Italian will make a few local appearances before leaving for the east. In the east Primo is in big demand. It was back in the bleak, cold country that he got rightfully started in the wrestling game. Although he made his initial appearance here it was back east where he successfully campaigned. In that section he had a succession of capacity houses.

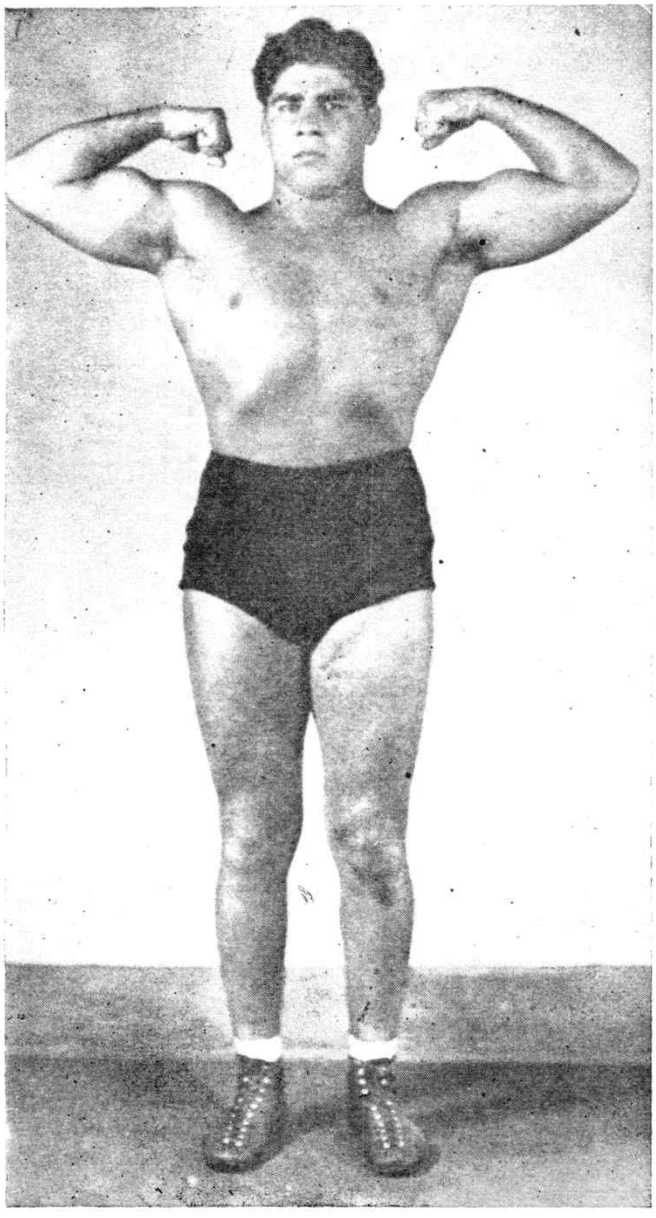
With the wrestling season getting under way back there he will again be a big figure in all the wrestling shows. So if you desire to see Primo better get it now for he is not long for the west coast.

Big Jules Strongbow, who started to take a vacation of just touring around, got stuck over in Palm Springs and there he stayed. It was from choice, though. He found the baths there were as beneficial as the ones down in Hot Springs, Arkansas, his home country. He dropped in over at the matches in San Bernardino last Saturday. He looked as though he had dropped about 75 pounds, as well as being burned to a dark leathery brown.

Makes Sensasional Debut

No wonder Chicago and other fans throughout the midwest have been sold so solidly on Bobby Managoff!

In the short week he has bee in Southern California, Managoff has won the instantaneous approval of thousands of mat-lovers in every club smart enough to be in on his early bookings?



Long idolized in leading arenas in Chicago, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Denver and clubs throughout the country, Managoff has proven himself to the local spectators, well worthy of the impressive tributes paid him throughout his meteoric career.

The Chicago boy is a clean-cut athlete, whose great ability is much the same type of George Beckers. And going back a bit further, southland fans are comparing Managoff with Nick Lutze, the mat idol of the Coast some five years ago.

Nick was the fast, stickler-for-mat-cleanliness who never made a wrong move, it is recalled. Managoff, while a few pounds solider, apparently has the same creed and ideals.

And like Becker and Lutz, this newcomer Managoff can hold his place with the toughest of the rowdies—and emerge the best man in the end.

Managoff will absorb some terrific punishment and grueling torture, but no matter how abusive and unethical his opponent may be. Managoff sticks to his creed and never forgets that rules on the mat are made to be upheld and not tossed around by trickery and fox-like strategy of the border-line variety.

"My father always impressed the fact on me that two wrongs don't make a right, and so when a foe goes out of bounds when he's trying to best me, I try to pay him back by bearing down with straight holds." Bobby has explained.

And brother, can Managoff bear down!

He was taught wrestling by his father, an outstanding star of the old school, and has learned his lessons well. Managoff, however, is by no means old fashioned in mat style—for he cleverly couples the old grips handed down by the masters with the streamlined, dynamic tactics of the modern age.

For a while it looked like you had to be a foxy villain to click a win in the southland, as the principal victors in recent matches had been the Dusaks, Gorgeous George and the Davis Boys. But with the Managoff advent, it's shown that this theory is false—for Managoff, who looms the new coast champion, doesn't have a base trick in his wide repertoire of mat grips.
